DINING SERVICES NEWS

New Ideas!

—martha mantione

RECENTLY, ABOUT A dozen people from Satellites, Concessions and Dining Services attended a tele-conference on Convenience store operations. Examples of both private and college Convenience stores (C-stores) were shown and discussed.

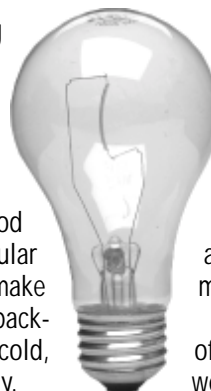

It was especially interesting to see the variety of stores across college campuses. With today's population constantly of the go, C-stores are becoming more a necessity than a "convenience." Grab-and-go food choices are becoming more popular every day. While beverages still make up the majority of store sales, packaged food items, both hot and cold, are increasing in popularity daily.

Foodini's, a new chain of convenience stores in California and the Phoenix area, showed the latest innovations in convenience foods. They not only have the traditional items such as gas, chips, candy, etc., but also offer freshly prepared foods of all kinds. At breakfast time they prepare freshly cooked foods, packaged and ready to go, as well as lunch items to take out. One stop, two meals!

The foods are continually changed out. At lunch they offer lunch and dinner items. They prepackage three meals daily and continually change the menu to offer more varieties so the menu doesn't become the same old thing. Also, at each meal period they offer freshly made salads, fruits and bakery items.

We heard many new ideas, some of which we'd like to try next year as we move closer to our new Union! It will be fun to try something new on campus that seems to work so successfully in the private sector.

EMPLOYEE PROFILE

—carrie clark

WELCOME TO THE fifth edition of employee profile! June's profile is on Don Bennett from our maintenance department. Don's trade is carpentry. He started out at age 15 doing rough framing for a construction company in California. Since then Don has learned to build porches, custom decks, European and Fine style furniture and cabinetry. He was the carpenter for several of the remodels that have taken place in the past two years, such as the Fig, Union Club, the Cellar, sound booths for Kamp Radio, and now Louie's Lower Level.

Don was born in Babylon, New York and moved to Southern California at age six. He graduated from Newbury Park High School in Ventura County with actress Heather Loclair in his graduating class. Wow! Don's Dad is a retired TWA Airline pilot. Mom is always busy volunteering for nursing duty, church and community programs along with raising four children. Martin, Don's brother is the founder and owner of Premier Pet Products which he has established into a nationwide company. His parents are retired in Tucson. One brother lives in Lake County, California, his sister in Camarillo, California and his other brother lives in Richmond, Virginia.

After moving to Tucson, Don met his wife Kristin, UA Graduate in Special Education. They have two of the cutest girls you'll ever see. Rachael is three years old and Carly is almost two. Kristin keeps busy as a volunteer, tutoring at the Edge program. I'm sure the girls are a hand full. Vacation time is near however, a family trip to COOL Colorado where they plan to take long trail rides on horseback, check out the wildlife and maybe get in a little fishing. Don is also very involved in his church, with league softball and sings with their band. (Remember he sang at the Christmas Party?) He also says he loves camping, hiking, water-skiing and being a Dad.
